ROSES

Growing tips for success

Roses prefer well drained slightly acidic soil. The location should have 5 hours minimum direct sun (Roses will grow in shady places—they just won't bloom well). Good air circulation is important, but avoid windy sites.

PLANTING:

- 1) Dig the hole wider than the pot, and deep enough so the plant is not sitting higher than it was in the pot.
- 2) Trim the fiber pot so that the rim is below the soil level of the ground. (plastic pots should be removed before planting)
- 3) Set the pot or root ball in the soil so the bud union (knobbly part between roots and stems) is 1-2 inches below the soil level.

WATERING:

Newly planted roses should be watered once a week in hot dry weather. (Established plants are remarkably drought tolerant). Mulch will help retain soil moisture and keep weeds down.

PRUNING:

Remove dead and crossed canes. Shape and thin for air circulation, and to encourage flower production

- Heavy pruning is done in early spring, when the plant starts to show signs of growth
 - Use sharp pruners that leave no crushed stems or ragged edges
- HYBRID TEAS and GRANDIFLORAS: Cut healthy stems to half their length, 12-24" in height
- FLORIBUNDAS: Old stems should be cut hard to just a few inches tall. New stems prune to shape
- MINIATURES: Cut healthy stems to half their length
- SHRUB & RUGOSAS: Trim to shape, removing no more than 1/3 of the total plant material. Younger canes bloom better than old, thick canes
- CLIMBERS: Removed dead wood & withered shoot tips

DEADHEADING:

Removing spent blooms will encourage faster reblooming. It's recommended to cut back to just above the first leaf with 5 leaflets.

FERTILIZING:

Feeding your rose May through August can encourage blooming. Avoid nitrogen fertilizers in the fall, as you don't want to encourage fresh tender growth when cold weather is approaching. Frequency depends on fertilizer type. For example, liquids will be applied more often than granular. Consult the instructions on the package.

DISEASE & INSECT CONTROL:

Roses tend to be susceptible to black spot & powdery mildew. Good air circulation is important for plant health, and any watering should be applied to the soil, NOT the leaves. (Sprinklers encourage fungal problems). There are a number of insects that can trouble roses. Some are easy to prevent & control, others are more tricky. Bring samples and pictures if you're unsure of what is plaguing your rose to the nursery, and we'll help you choose the best options for fixing the issue.

WINTER PROTECTION:

Hybrid Teas, Grandifloras, Floribundas and Miniatures: After killing frost (late November to mid-December in Central Ohio), mound soil, mulch, sawdust or woodchips over the center of the bush 12-18" deep to protect the crown.

Shrubs and Rugosas: Good idea to protect them their first winter, though most are cold hardy enough that they need minimal or no protection in future winters.

Climbers: Minimal protection needed, but mounding over the crown as in hybrid teas would be added insurance against a 'polar vortex' event.

Tree Roses:

When grown in the ground -

- 1) Dig up one half of root system, and bend plant over into a trench deep and large enough to accommodate whole tree. Cover all parts completely with soil and mulch.
- 2) If site does not allow space for horizontal burying, carefully dig entire plant and trench as described above in another area, such as a vegetable garden or annual bed. Replant in preferred site in April.

When grown in containers -

After killing frost, leave rose unpruned and move inside an unheated garage or shed in warmest spot. Temperature range of 25-45F is optimal for maintaining dormancy. Water just enough so soil doesn't dry out completely—once a month or so. Move outdoors in mid April and prune when it shows signs of new growth. This method can be used for any type of rose grown in a container.
